CSRA College Night Rescheduled for September 27

- Impact of Hurricane Florence to east coast states drives need to reschedule

Aiken, S.C., (Sept. 11, 2018) — Due to severe weather created by Hurricane Florence throughout several east coast states, CSRA College Night has been rescheduled for Thursday, Sept. 27, 5-8:30 p.m., at the James Brown Arena, Augusta, Ga.

“We have more than 120 college representatives throughout the U.S. who have committed to attend this event, many from or travelling through states forecasted to have direct impact by Hurricane Florence,” said Francine Burroughs, Manager, SRNS Education Outreach and Talent Management. “Rescheduling this event will ensure the safety of all participants.”

College Night annually provides local high school students with a special opportunity to meet recruiters from more than 100 colleges and universities and win scholarships totaling $16,000. Admission is free and open to the public.
