Leaders Honored by SRS Leadership Association

Organization of federal and contractor employees at Savannah River Site recognizes Dennis Donati, Bill Tadlock and Byron Bush of Savannah River Nuclear Solutions.

AIKEN, S.C. – July 10, 2013 – The Savannah River Site Leadership Association (SRSLA) honored three outstanding leaders at the Association's annual Awards Dinner. The Association named

- Savannah River Nuclear Solutions (SRNS) Senior Vice President for National Nuclear Security Administration Operations and Programs Dennis Donati as Executive of the Year
- SRNS F-Area Complex Facility Manager William “Bill” Tadlock as Leader of the Year
- SRNS Financial Analyst Byron Bush as SRSLA Member of the Year

The SRSLA is the Savannah River Site (SRS) chapter of the National Management Association (NMA); its membership includes personnel from the various SRS contractor and federal employers. Each year, SRSLA presents the Executive of the Year to a senior executive manager who has gained noteworthy recognition for accomplishments in the field of management and who has conducted their personal and business affairs in a manner in keeping with the NMA's Code of Ethics.

Donati's Executive of the Year award noted his record of achieving success through partnerships with customers, colleagues and employees as evidence of his results-oriented leadership excellence. Among other achievements, Donati was noted for integrating the multiple parts of SRNS's NNSA support into a cohesive organization, and for his dedication to mentoring and developing employees.

Leader of the Year Tadlock was honored for his outstanding leadership in plant operations and employee development. In particular, he was noted for his ability to lead complex tasks, empowering employees and implementing strong disciplined operations.

Bush was named SRSLA Member of the Year for demonstrating innovation and promoting a team spirit during SRSLA's 2012-2013 Program Year.

The evening's program also included the annual Top Management Night, which featured remarks from Doug Dearolph, manager of NNSA-Savannah River Field Office, and Zack Smith, deputy manager of U.S. Department of Energy-Savannah River, about SRS missions and activities. A panel made up of top executives from SRS contractors – Fred Dohse of SRNS, Stuart McVean of Savannah River Remediation, Kelly Trice of Shaw AREVA MOX, and Randy Garver of security contractor WSI-Savannah River – discussed their companies' roles in the site's future.

Savannah River Nuclear Solutions is a Fluor-led company whose members are Fluor Federal Services, Newport News Nuclear and Honeywell, responsible for the management and operations of the Department of Energy's Savannah River Site, including the Savannah River National Laboratory, located near Aiken, South Carolina.
